INFORMATIONS

AND

OTHER PAPERS

Relating to the

TREASONABLE VERSES

Found at

OXFORD,

July 17. 1754.

OXFORD

Printed; and Sold by DANIEL PRINCE. And by J. and J. RIVINGTON in St. Paul's Church-Yard, LONDON. 1755.

INFORMATIONS

TO SECULATION OF THE SECURATION OF THE SECULATION OF THE SECULATIO

OTHER PAPERS

Rale jugate the

TREASONABLE VERSES

the second secon

OXNORD

787 : 7: 175

Maria de la maria de la facta de la facta

The role and supply the first way

ON PORPORD

A STATE OF THE PARTY OF THE PAR

CONTROL OF STREET, STR

Pined, ad Salta Daking Princip. And by by and J. Riving road in St. Pan's Cartheline Lordon. 1755.

cation of the Informations themselves; which contain every Fall that has hi-

ADVERTISEMENT.

to the Treatonable Paper prefented by the Grand Jury of this County at the

THE Magistrates, before whom the the following Informations were taken, have hitherto deferred laying them before the Publick, as Copies were from Time to Time transmitted to their proper Superiors, and as a hafty Publication might have prevented the Discovery of that Truth, which alone was the End of their Enquiry. But as many Misrepresentations have been made of the Matters which appeared upon this Examination, the Magistrates now think it a Duty, which they owe to their respective Communities, to silence effectually all false Reports, by the Publication cation of the Informations themselves; which contain every Fact that has hitherto come to their Knowlege, relating to the Treasonable Paper presented by the Grand Jury of this County at the last Assiss.

To these are prefixed a Copy of the Grand-Jury's Presentment, and a few other Papers, explanatory of the Time and Manner, in which the Finding of this Treasonable Libel was first communicated to the Publick.

very of that Truth, which alone was also and the English. But a many Mifrepreferences have been made of the Matter which appeared upon this samination, the Magificates now think it a Duty, which they owe to their telectine Communities, to filoge theorem, by the Ruble Reports, by the Ruble Ruble Reports, by the Ruble

Oxford, 4 Jan. 1755.

A c cation

INFORMATIONS

AND

OTHER PAPERS, &c.

I N the London and other Evening Posts of Tuesday, July 23. 1754. appeared the following Advertisement.

ITHEREAS there was found near Carfax in Oxford, on Saturday July 13th, a treasonable Copy of Verses, reflecting, in a most scandalous Manner, on His Majesty's Person and Government, to the high Dishonour of an University where Loyalty ought to be particularly cultivated: This is to give Notice, That a certain Number of Loyal Subjects to His Majesty King GEORGE, and Members of the said University, to free themselves from any Share in the general Reflections that must be thrown out on this Occasion, and to express a just Indignation at the Insult that is offered thereby to the best of Kings and Governments, do bereby promise a Reward of Fifty Pounds to any one, who will discover the Person or Persons, who wrote or dispersed the said Verses: The Money to be paid on Conviction, by Mr. Cornelius Norton, Attorney at Law, in the High-Street, Oxford.

THE

THE following Affidavit was transmitted to the Vice-Chancellor, a few Days after it was fworn.

London, to wit.

RICHARD NUTT, Printer in the Old Bailey, maketh Oath, That on Monday the twenty second day of July last past He this Deponent received from the Reverend Mr. Blaco, Cannon of Windsor, the following Advertisement (to wit) "Whereas there was found near Carfax in "Oxford, on Saturday July 13th, a treasonable "Copy of Verses, reflecting in a most scandalous "Manner on His Majesty's Person and Govern-"ment, to the high Dishonour of an University "where Loyalty ought to be particularly cultiva-"ted: This is to give Notice, That a certain " Number of Loyal Subjects to His Majesty King "GEORGE, and Members of the Said University, " to free themselves from any Share in the general " Reflections that must be thrown out on this Occa-"fion, and to express a just Indignation at the In-"fult that is offered thereby to the best of Kings "and Governments, do bereby promise a Reward " of fifty Pounds to any One, who will discover the "Person or Persons who wrote or dispersed the " faid Verses: The Money to be paid on Conviction " by Mr. Cornelius Norton, Attorney at Law, in "the High-Street, Oxford." Which Advertisement was inserted in the London Evening Post of July the 23d 1754, and for which Advertisement the

Si

A

Mo

foll

Oxy

the faid Reverend Mr. Blaco paid to him this Deponent the Sum of five Shillings.

Sworn the 26th Day of August, in the Year 1754, before me at my Mansion House, THOMAS RAWLINSON, Mayor.

N Wednesday, July the 24th, the Affises began at Oxford, and ended on Friday the 26th, on the latter of which Days a Presentment was made by the Grand-Jury, confifting of the following Gentlemen;

Right Honourable Lord Viscount Parker, Foreman.

Hon. Charles Sloane Cadogan, Robert Nedham, Esq; Efq; Sir John Reade, Bart. Sir Jonathan Cope, Bart, Sir Edward Turner, Bart. Sir William Burnaby, Knt. Anthony Keck, Efq; Thomas Horde, Eig; Anthony Hodges, Esq;

William Lenthall, Efq;

of

nt

John Knabbs, Efq; George Schutz, Efq; Paul Elers, Efq; John Deacle, Esq; Stuckley Baynton, Efq; Charles Piers, Efq; George Cowncer, Gent. Richard Blackall, Gent.

A Copy of which Presentment was the next Morning printed in the Oxford Journal, in the following Words;

Oxfordshire. At the Assizes held at the City of Oxford, in and for the County of Oxford, on Wednelday the Twenty-fourth Day of July, 1754.

WE the Grand Jury for the County of Oxford, do present, That a false, malicious, infamous, nd treasonable Libel hereunto annexed, abusing His Sacred facred Majesty, and exhorting all People to take up Arms against Him in favour of a Popish Pretender, was found on Wednesday the 17th of this Instant July near the Market Place in the Parish of St. Martin's in the City of Oxford, and was wrote with a wicked and diabolical Intention of alienating the Affections of His Majesty's Subjects, and again involving these Kingdoms in a most impious and unnatural Rebellion; We think it therefore our bounden Duty in the most publick Manner to express our Detestation and Abborrence of an Attempt so atrocious, to destroy the Peace and Happiness of our Country, and the Life of our Sovereign, which we are bound in Interest as well as Gratitude to Support to the utmost of our Power: - There is not any publick Blessing which we do not enjoy under His Majesty's most auspicious Government. - Our Civil and Religious Rights are protected, fuflice is administered with the greatest Impartiality, and the Nation is enriched by a most flourishing and extensive Trade: And we bumbly present that it is our Opinion, that the highest Punishment that the Laws will admit should be inflieted on those who thus impiously attempt to deprive us of Blessings and Advantages so invaluable; and that the most effectual Methods should be taken to discover the Persons concerned therein. We must add likewife, that it is the highest Aggravation of this Crime, to have a Libel of a Nature so false and scandalous published in a famous University, where a great Part of the Youth of England bave their Education; and where, if it should unhappily make an Impression, it would produce the most fatal Consequences to us and our Posterity.

In the London Gazette of Saturday, July the 27th, was inferted an Advertisement from one of His Majesty's principal Secretaries of State, reciting that on the 13th Instant (which Date in the subsequent Gazettes was corrected for the 17th Instant) a Written Paper of Verses containing the most infamous and audacious Expressions of Treason, Sedition and Rebellion, was dropt in the Market Place at Oxford; requiring in His Majesty's Name all Justices of the Peace and Civil Magistrates to make diligent Search after the Authors and Publishers of the said treasonable Paper; and promising a Reward of Two Hundred Pounds upon Discovery and Conviction of the Offenders.

THE Chief Magistrates of the University and City, who had no other Intelligence of this Affair from the Beginning than what arose from the public News Papers, upon Sight of this Notice in the Gazette, immediately undertook an Enquiry in Pursuance of His Majesty's general Directions, the Result of which Enquiry is contained in the following Informations.

of the

eft

nle-

le;

uft of

ilfe ty,

pinost

THE STATE OF THE the second has a second as a all the many the Toler when many in report landership to the company of the same ways and a few to received liquid and mannered dos so the direction accompany to the contract Lorson 177 Chill egisted by appropriate continued Sir a colors to the the papers of the femiles being mid (and - Tel delice was a property of the wall believed print wines the bas see has they delite, - 22 of this low and the second of the court and a second to entirel he prompt that the best suffering The part of the state of the st and it's spilled had has one un month was beauth - 177 s gallenging has a marginal line out that Transition of the state of the

The special and the cast anneal and the cast and the cast

The same of the sa

The man of the party and has

NUMBER I.

The voluntary Information of Mary the Wife of Robert Carnall, of the City of Oxford, Shopkeeper, taken before us George Huddesford, D. D. Vice-Chancellor of the University of Oxford, and Daniel Shilfox, Esq; Mayor of the City of Oxford, this 29th day of July, 1754.

HIS Informant upon her Oath faith, That on Wednesday in the Sessions Week, being the 17th of this Instant July, and Market Day, this Informant sometime in the Forenoon of the faid Day, coming out of the Door of her House, fituate at the Corner of Carfax, being the public Market Place of the City of Oxford, faw lying under her Window a small Parcel of Linnen Rags, and together with them a Piece of thick Paper, which feemed to have been the Infide of the Cover of a Book, on which this Informant faw fome Writing which she apprehended to be Verses; and upon her taking up the fame, one Mrs. West, who fells Cheese oppofite this Informant's Window, faid to this Informant, They are Riab's, meaning that they belonged to one Maria Duke, who uses to go of Errands for the faid Mrs. West, and at other Times, as this Informant believes, cries Fruit about the Streets, and fometimes buys or gathers Rags. And this Informant further faith, That upon looking on the faid Paper, she found B 2 that it contained a Copy of Verses, which she apprehended to be of a treasonable Nature, and to carry base Reflections on his Majesty and the Government; and that foon after the had read the faid Verses, the said Maria Duke came to her this Informant, and demanded the faid Paper, as being her the faid Maria's Property; Whereupon this Informant told the faid Maria, that the faid Verses were against His Majesty; to which the faid Maria answered, Then damn 'em; but the faid Maria refused to tell this Informant where the had the fame. And this Informant further faith, That on the same Day The found the faid Verses, she shewed them to her Neighbour Mr. Austin, one of the Justices of the Peace for the City of Oxford; and on the fame, and other Days following, she shewed the fame to feveral others of her Acquaintance, but never gave any Copy or Copies thereof. And this Informant further faith, That during the Time of the Affifes for the County of Oxford, and (to the best of this Informant's Belief, upon Thursday the 25th Instant) Mr. Cornelius Norton, an Attorney at Law, of Oxford, (who to the best of this Informant's Knowledge had never feen the faid Verses before) came to this Informant and defired to borrow the faid Verses, which this Informant accordingly dent him. And this Informant was the next Morning brought before the Grand Jury, and examined with Regard to the finding of the faid Paper of Verses, and hath not feen the faid Paper fince, but believes it was prefented by the Grand Jury at the

[13]

the faid Affises to the Court; and this Informant saith, That she doth not know, nor hath ever heard, that any treasonable or other Libel was found at Carfax on the thirteenth Instant, or at any other time, save only on the seventeenth Instant above mentioned.

The state of this Informant told the (aid Alette

MARY CARNALL.

July, 1754. before us

George Huddesford, Vice-Chan.

Daniel Shilfox, Mayor.

tosted abid NUMBER II.

I we consider the circumber of the fluctuation in the control of the function of the function of the function of the control of the fluctuation of the fluctuation of the fluctuation of the Acquaintance of the Acquaintance of the Acquaintance of the Acquaintance

The voluntary Information of Maria Duke, Spinster, taken before us George Huddefford, D. D. Vice-Chancellor of the University of Oxford, and Daniel Shilfox, Esq; Mayor of the City of Oxford, this 29th Day of July, 1754.

THIS Informant upon her Oath faith, That her Livelyhood and Employment confift in felling Fruit, buying Rags, and going of Errands for Mrs. West of Northmore in the County of Oxford, who brings Cheese twice a Week to Oxford Market: That on last Wednesday Sennight night in the Morning, being the 17th of this Instant July, she bought a Parcel of Rags of one Mary Thurstan, the Daughter of Mr. Thurstan a Barber in the High-Street, Oxford, of the Value of Two Pence or thereabouts, and went up to the Market Place at Carfax with the faid Rags in her Apron sometime before Noon in the same Day; that there the faid Mrs. West defired her to carry out a Parcel of Cheefe, and leave her Rags behind her, which she accordingly did upon some Straw which came out of Mrs. West's Hampers under the Window of Mr. Carnall's Shop, who lives at the Corner of Carfax aforefaid. And this Informant faith, that at the Time The bought the faid Rags she did not see or know of any Paper or Papers being among them, neither did she see or know of any Paper being there at the Time she left the said Rags under Mr. Carnall's Window. And this Informant faith, That she left the said Rags in the said Place (which was in the public Market Place during the Time of the County Seffions) for the Space of an Hour or more, and that on her Return the faid Mrs. West told this Informant that Mrs. Carnall had picked up a Piece of Paper from among the Rags, and had carried it over to Mr. Carter's a Shopkeeper over the Way; Whereupon this Informant went to the faid Mr. Carter's, and there found the faid Mrs. Carnall and Mr. Austin the Mercer reading a Paper in Mr. Carter's Shop; and this Informant asked Mrs. Carnall whether she had taken any Thing out of her this Informant's Rags, and (if she had)

had) to let this Informant see it, but Mrs. Carnall refused so to do, unless this Informant would tell her where she had bought her Rags, which this Informant denied to do, apprehending that fuch Enquiry was no Bufiness of Mrs. Carnall's. And this Informant faith, That afterwards, upon Mrs. Carnall's telling her the faid Paper, which she had picked up, was against His Majesty, she this Informant expressed her Sorrow for and Dislike of the same, but did not tell Mrs. Carnall where she had the faid Rags, apprehending that she had no Authority to ask the Question. And this Informant upon her Oath faith, that she is entirely ignorant of the Contents of fuch Paper as was fo faid to be found among her faid Rags, nor knows any Thing of the Manner of its coming there, or whether that or any other Paper was there at all, and that she knows Nothing of this or any other treasonable or other Libel being dropt or found at Oxford, fave only as this Informant hath in this her Information above specified and declared. And Lastly, this Informant faith, that Mr. Norton, an Attorney of this City, about the Beginning of last Week, enquired of this Informant where she had the faid Rags, which Question she this Informant did not chuse to answer, as she apprehended Mr. Norton was no Magistrate. And she saith, that she hath not been examined touching the Matters aforesaid, or any of them, before the Grand Jury of this County, or any Justice of Peace, or other Magistrate, till the Time of the present Examination, altho' this InforInformant hath continued in Oxford in her usual Employment from the said 17th Instant to the present Time.

The Mark of M
MARIA DUKE.

tia

V

W

th

D

in uf Pa

R

the

up

(to the

July, 1754. before us

GEORGE HUDDESFORD, Vice-Chan.

DANIEL SHILFOX, Mayor.

NUMBER III.

The voluntary Information of Mary Thurston, otherwise Mary Fickus, Spinster, taken before us George Huddesford, D.D. Vice-Chancellor of the University of Oxford, and Daniel Shilfox, Esq; Mayor of the City of Oxford, this Third Day of August, 1754.

THIS Informant upon her Oath faith, That fhe is the Daughter of William Fickus, late of the City of Oxford, Barber, deceased, but that foon after the Death of her Father, when this Informant was about three Years of Age, her Mother intermarried with Richard Thurston, of the faid City of Oxford, Barber, with whom the

the has lived ever fince for the Space of about thirty years, and has thereupon been usually called and known by the Name of Mary Thurston. And this Informant faith, That she hath for a long Time past, and doth still earn her Living by Plain Work with her Needle, and hath constantly from Time to Time made some little Advantage by felling the Rags which arose from her Way of Business, and particularly on the Seventeenth Day of July last past, between the Hours of Ten and Eleven in the Morning (to the best of this Informant's Memory and Belief) she this Informant fold to one Maria Duke a fmall Parcel of Rags in the Whole confifting of one Pound Weight or thereabouts, three Quarters of which were Linnen Rags, produced and arifing from her Way of Business as aforesaid, and the other Quarter of a Pound confifted of Woollen Rags, being the Remnants of old Stockings and the Shreds of a Flannel Petticoat which this Informant had lately mended. And this Informant faith, That about three or four Days before the faid Seventeenth Day of July the forted the faid Rags with her own hands, in order to pick out any Pieces that might be useful in her Business, and also to remove any Paper or other Rubbish which the Buyers of Rags do always refuse to purchase in the Lump with the Rags themselves; and having so forted them, she this Informant tied the Linnen Rags up in a Pocket Handkerchief, being all together (to the best of this Informant's Belief) about the Size of the Crown of a Man's Hat, and put the Woollen Rags in the Corner of her this Informant's Chamber, together with the faid Handkerchief of Linnen Rags, and kept them both together in her faid Chamber till the Time of her felling them; and this Informant faith, That she always keeps the Key of the said Chamber herself, and that she is possitive Nobody but herself came into her said Chamber between the Time of her so forting the faid Rags and the Time of her felling them; and this Informant faith, That there was no Paper or Papers, or any Writing whatfoever, among the faid Rags either Linnen or Woollen aforesaid, either at the Time of her forting or felling the faid Rags to the faid Maria Duke, who gave this Informant the Sum of Two Pence for the fame; and this Informant further poffitively faith, that she is an utter Stranger to, and never faw any treasonable or feditious Libel or other Paper whatfoever, faid to be found among Maria Duke's Rags at Carfax on the faid Seventeenth Day of July, nor ever heard of the fame till she was told by her Neighbours that there was an Account in the London News Papers that a Paper of that fort was found at Carfax; neither doth the this Informant know any Thing at all of that or any other treasonable or seditious Paper whatsoever. And Lastly, this Informant faith, That she never gave Maria Duke any Orders not to mention her Name upon this Occasion, nor ever had any Conversation with her upon this Account till last Tuesday Night, the 30th of July, when she this Informant told the said Maria Duke

Duke that she was very ready and willing to own that she did really and truly sell her the said Rags at the Time and in the manner before mentioned, she this Informant being thoroughy conscious of her own Innocence with Regard to every Part of her Behaviour upon this Occasion.

MARY THURSTON.

Sworn at Oxford the 3d Day of August, 1754. before us
GEORGE HUDDESEORD, Vice-Chan.
DANIEL SHILFOX, Mayor.

es suportura l'activate de

1,

n y

r.

1-er

C-ly,

ia

ike

NUMBER IV.

The voluntary Information of Mary West, Widow, taken before us George Huddesford, D.D. Vice-Chancellor of the University of Oxford, and Daniel Shilfox, Esq; Mayor of the City of Oxford, this third Day of August, 1754.

THIS Informant upon her Oath faith, That she occupies a Farm at Northmore in the County of Oxford, and brings Cheeses twice a Week in the Summer to Oxford Market, and usually sells them there under the Window of one Robert Carnall a Shopkeeper at Carfax, being the Market Place of the faid City of Oxford; and this Informant faith, That on Wednesday in the last Sessions Week (being a fortnight ago last Wednesday) she was sitting on her Hampers close under the faid Mr. Carnall's Window, and that in the Forenoon of the faid Day one Maria Duke, who goes of Errands for this Informant, having been before fent out with fome Cheese, returned to Carfax aforesaid with a Parcel of Rags in her Apron, which she told this Informant she was going to carry to her the faid Maria Duke's Home; but this Informant wanting to fend out a Parcel of Cheese immediately, the the faid Maria Duke threw down her Rags under the faid Mr. Carnall's Window, being a dry Place with a Kind of Shed or Penthouse over it, and the Weather being then rainy. And this Informant faith, that the faid Rags were thrown down a little behind this Informant, on her Left Hand, in the Corner formed by the Hamper upon which she sate, and the Front of Mr. Carnall's House, with her Back close to which House she this Informant sate. And this Informant faith, that on the faid Maria's throwing down the faid Rags, she this Informant cast her Eye upon the fame; whereupon the faid Maria told this Informant, that they were very clean, or words to that Effect; and this Informant faith, that, at the Time of her fo looking upon the faid Rags, she faw no Paper lying thereon or thereabouts; and this Informant faith, that the faid Maria Duke staid above an Hour on the Errand whereupon she was fent by this Informant; and that during fuch her Absence Mrs. Mary Carnall, the Wife of Mr. Carnall aforefaid, came out of her Shop and entered into discourse with this Informant about the Weather, her Trade, and other indifferent Things; and during fuch Discourse, she the said Mrs. Carnall stooped down by the Side of this Informant towards the Rags aforesaid, and upon her rising again she had a Paper in her Hand, which she wiped against her Apron or Petticoat, as if the fame had been dirty, and thereupon ask'd this Informant whose Rags these were; to which this Informant answer'd, They are Riah's, meaning the faid Maria Duke's, and then ask'd the faid Mrs. Carnall what she had got there, to which Mrs. Carnall answer'd laughingly, a Bank Bill; and this Informant faith, that the faid Paper, which she saw in the said Mrs. Carnall's Hand, was a longish Piece of thick Paper, somewhat broader than her Hand, and white on one Side, and brownish on the other, like Button Paper. And this Informant faith, that, from the Time of the faid Maria Duke's fo leaving the Rags in the Place aforesaid till the Time of the faid Mrs. Carnall's picking up the faid Paper, no Person whatever meddled with the said Rags, or came near them, fave only a very little Child in Coats, unknown to this Informant, who fometime in that Morning was playing near the faid Rags, but whether before or after Mrs. Carnall had pick'd up the faid Paper this Informant cannot possitively remember, but to the best

C 2

[20]

n

e

of

o

1-st

id

r-ng h, ur

n

best of this Informant's Belief it was afterwards: and this Informant faith, that when Mrs. Carnall had so pick'd up the said Paper she carried the fame into her own Shop, whither this Informant followed her; and then the faid Mrs. Carnall told this Informant it was Treason, but this Informant never read the fame. And this Informant further faith, that when the faid Maria Duke return'd from carrying out this Informant's Cheefes, she this Informant told her that Mrs. Carnall had pick'd up a Paper from her Rags, but what the Paper was this Informant did not know; whereupon the faid Maria Duke went to the faid Mrs. Carnall to enquire after the fame. And as to what pass'd afterwards between them the faid Duke, and Carnall, this Informant is intirely Ignorant. And lastly this Informant faith, that she is an utter Stranger to the Contents of the faid Paper, neither did she know any thing of the fame's being in the Place aforesaid, till the same was produced by Mrs. Carnall.

The Mark of + MARY WEST.

Sworn at Oxford the 3d Day of August, 1754. before us
GEORGE HUDDESFORD, Vice-Chan.
DANIEL SHILFOX, Mayor.

Rans, but whether of thick came a and that gick'd up one his Ness tarnall to [23]

NUMBER V.

The voluntary Information of Lawrence Horner, of Oxford, Peruke-maker, taken the 19th Day of August, 1754, before us George Huddesford, D. D. Vice-Chancellor of the University of Oxford, and Daniel Shilfox, Esq; Mayor of the City of Oxford.

HIS Informant upon his Oath faith, That upon Wednesday in the Week preceding the Affises at Oxford, being the 17th Day of July last, he this Informant went to buy some Cream Cheese of one Mrs. West, who sells the fame near Carfax in Oxford; and while this Informant was buying some Cheese, one Mrs. Carnall called to this Informant, and told him she had found a Copy of Verses, and that she would shew them to him; upon which this Informant went to the faid Mrs. Carnall's, and she gave him the faid Copy of Verses, which this Informant read, and fays they were wrote in a very indifferent Hand, and he believes they were wrote by a Girl or Woman; and this Informant further fays, he believes it was between the Hours of Eight and Ten in the Morning, when Mrs. Carnall shewed him the said Verses, and is fure 'twas before Ten of the Clock; and that while he was reading the faid Verses, a Girl who is called by the Name of Riab came into the faid Shop, and defired Mrs. Carnall to let her have the faid Paper, which Mrs. Carnall refused, fused, and offered to give her a Mug of Drink if the would tell her how the came by it; but whether the faid Riah made any Answer to the above Question this Informant cannot say, neither doth he know any Thing further about the faid Paper, otherwise than that the Writing on the faid Paper appeared to have been wrote a good while, the faid Paper on which it was wrote being old and pasted on another Peice of old brown Paper in Order to preserve it, which appeared to this Informant to have been rolled up; and that the faid Mrs. Carnall told this Informant the found it on some Rags near her Door, which Rags lay near the faid Mrs. Carnall's Door on the Right Hand fide of the faid Door, and just behind the Hamper of the said Mrs. Weft.

LAW. HORNER.

Sworn at Oxford the 19th Day of August, 1754. before us
GEORGE HUDDESFORD, Vice-Chan.
DANIEL SHILFOX, Mayor,

refes away with her, after the had to read their this Informant; and afterwards the faid Mrs wall lent the fame Paper of Veres to this Informant for her perufal; and this Informant, at having perufed the faid Paper of Verfes, law in by on a Shelf in this Informant's shop, here they continued for feveral Hours, if not a whole Night, and till the fast Mrs. florally ther Novid Servant to fatch them away a said -MUN west delivered them to the fall Servant

NUMBER VI.

The voluntary Information of Elizabeth the Wife of Edward Browne, of the City of Oxford, Tinman, taken on Oath before us George Huddesford, D.D. Vice-Chancellor of the Univerfity of Oxford, and Daniel Shilfox, Esq; Mayor of the City of Oxford, the Seventeenth Day of August, 1754.

THE Informant on her Oath faith, That upon some Wednesday before the last Affifes for the County of Oxford, to the best of this Informant's Remembrance, one Mrs. Carnall, who lives next Door to this Informant, came to this Informant's House, and told her that she had found a Paper, and thereupon began to read the faid Paper to this Informant, which contained some Verses which this Informant did not understand, but has fince heard that the faid Verses were of a treasonable Nature; and the faid Mrs. Carnall took the faid Verses away with her, after she had so read them to this Informant; and afterwards the faid Mrs. Carnall lent the same Paper of Verses to this Informant for her perusal; and this Informant, after having perused the said Paper of Verses, laid them by on a Shelf in this Informant's Shop, where they continued for feveral Hours, if not for a whole Night, and till the faid Mrs. Carnall fent her Maid Servant to fetch them away; and this Informant delivered them to the faid Servant accordingly; and this Informant can fay nothing further touching the faid Paper of Verfes.

D

[26]

The Mark of EX ELIZABETH BROWNE.

Sworn at Oxford the Day and Year
first above written, before us
GEORGE HUDDESFORD, Vice-Chan.
DANIEL SHILFOX, Mayor.

d this Informent faith. That the fair an following a new hearing the faid Paper was

NUMBER VII.

Shighnal Paper appeared to him to have beer

The voluntary Information of Richard Bew, of the City of Oxford, Mercer, taken before us George Huddesford, D.D. Vice-Chancellor of the University of Oxford, and Daniel Shilfox, Esq; Mayor of the City of Oxford, the 17th Day of August, 1754.

THIS Informant upon his Oath faith, That upon Thursday the 18th Day of July last, being the Thursday next before the Assis as this Informant apprehends and believes, he this Informant was at the Shop of one Robert Carnall near Carfax in Oxford, and that the said Robert Carnall told this Informant he or his Wife

Wife had picked up a very extraordinary Paper; upon which this Informant defired to fee it, but Mr. Carnall told this Informant, one Mrs. Browne, a near Neighbour of his, had it, and immediately fent his Servant-Maid for it, who accordingly went and brought Word back, that Mrs. Brown was afleep; and this Informant faith, That in the Afternoon of the same Day he went again to the faid Mr. Carnall's for the faid Paper, and that he took a Copy of the same, which he kept by him till the Sunday or Monday following; but hearing the faid Paper was likely to make a Noise, he destroyed the said Copy; and this Informant faith, That the faid Original Paper appeared to him to have been wrote by a Woman, and that the Paper on which it was wrote appeared to be almost wore out, and believes it was pasted on a Brownish Peice of Paper in Order to preserve it; and that by its Appearance it had been wrote a long Time.

RICHARD BEW.

Sworn at Oxford, the 17th Day of August, 1754. before us
GEORGE HUDDESFORD, Vice-Chan.
DANIEL SHILFOX, Mayor.

bring the Mounday next octors the Afficend this Informant apprehends and believes, he made the octor and was at the Shep of one Robert of the field near barfact in Onlord, and that the the

Verse of Biceller in the County of Oxford, Miles and .HIV. A B.B. M. W. Miles Cornell

The voluntary Information of William Carter, of the City of Oxford, Milliner, taken before us George Huddesford, D.D. Vice-Chancel-ing broof the University of Oxford, and Daniel Shilfox, Esq. Mayor of the City of Oxford, and within 17th Day of August, 1754.

HIS Informant upon his Oath faith, That upon the Wednesday on which the last general Quarter Seffions of the Peace for the County of Oxford was held at Oxford aforefaid, it being the seventeenth Day of July last, one Mrs. Carnell, who lives upon Carfax in Oxford, in this Deponent's Neighbourhood, came to this Informant's Shop with a Paper in her Hand, and faid to this Informant and one Mr. Austin, who was then also present, Look here, see what the Blues have done! or Words to that Effect; and immediately thereupon the faid Mrs. Carnall began to read the faid Paper aloud, which contained an Infamous and Treasonable Copy of Verses; and after having read the same, the said Mrs. Carnall delivered the faid Paper to the faid Mr. Austin and to this Informant for their Reading, who read the fame accordingly, and delilivered the fame to the faid Mrs. Carnall; and this Informant further faith, that upon the Saturday following, being the twentieth Day of July last, he this Informant was standing in the Market Place of Oxford at the Stall of one John Barker

Barker of Bicefter in the County of Oxford, Milliner and Hofier, when the faid Mrs. Carnall read the fame Paper of Verses or Part of them to the faid John Barker and one John Sare then prefent; and the faid Mrs. Carnall afterwards, as this Informant believes, delivered the same Copy of Verses to the said John Barker for his perusal; and this Informant saith, that from the Observation he made on the said Paper, while he had it in his hand, it appeared to him to have been long written, and almost worn out; that it feemed to have a blueish thick Paper pasted to the Back of it, for its Preservation; and from the Spelling and Writing, which feemed to this Informant to be a Sort of an Italian Hand, this Informant judges that the fame was wrote by a Woman, which is all this Informant knows or can depose concerning the faid Paper of Verfes, and the meministration of big bins adw sol and sold WILLIAM CARTER.

Sworn at Oxford the 17th Day of about his August, 1754. before us

GEORGE HUDDESFORD, Vice Chan anist DANTEL SHILFOX Mayor, a but a selection

Mrs. Carnall delivered the faid Paper to the Lamber. Multin and to this Informant for their Reading, who read the fame accordingly; and delivered the fame to the faid Mrs. Carnall; and this Informant further faith, that upon the Scientific and the following, being the twentieth Day of the last, he this Informant was flanding in the Market Place of Oxford at the Stall of one [30]

NUMBER IX.

The voluntary Information of John Barker, of Bicester in the County of Oxford, Milliner and Hosier, taken before us George Huddesford, D.D. Vice-Chancellor of the University of Oxford, and Daniel Shilfox, Esq; Mayor of the City of Oxford, this 17th Day of August, 1754.

HIS Informant upon his Oath faith, That upon Saturday the 20th Day of July last this Informant came to Oxford Market, where he keeps a Stall and fells Goods in his Way of Business, and has so done for near 20 Years past, and that upon the above Day one Mrs. Carnall came to this Informant; and after talking some little Time of indifferent Matters, she, Mrs. Carnall, faid she had fomething to shew this Informant; upon which she shewed this Informant a small Piece of Paper rolled up, that there were feveral Verses wrote on the said Paper, which this Informant read, and apprehends they reflected highly on the present Government, and contained treasonable Expressions according to the best of his Judgment; and this Informant further faith, that the faid Mrs. Carnall lives near Carfax in Oxford, and told this Informant she picked up the above-named Piece of Paper near her own Door.

JOHN BARKER.

I

tł

P

th

Si

Sworn at Oxford the 17th Day of

August, 1754. before us

GEORGE HUDDESFORD, Vice-Chan.

DANIEL SHILFOX, Mayor.

[31]

NUMBER X.

The voluntary Information of John Sare, of the City of Oxford, Cordwainer, taken before us George Huddesford, D. D. Vice-Chancellor of the University of Oxford, and Daniel Shilfox, Efq; Mayor of the City of Oxford, this 17th Day of August, 1754.

THIS Informant upon his Oath faith, That upon Saturday the 20th Day of July last, being the Saturday next before the Affifes, he was standing near the Stall of one John Barker in Oxford Market, and was talking with him, when Mrs. Carnall, who lives near Carfax in Oxford, came up to the faid Barker, and put a rufty Piece of Paper into his Hand, and faid to him, See what the Blues have done! or, See what the Blues will do! but which of those two Expresfions this Informant cannot possitively say; but this Deponent faith he did not hear the faid Paper read, neither doth he know the Contents thereof, and therefore cannot depose any further. JOHN SARE.

Sworn at Oxford the 17th Day of August, 1754. before us GEORGE HUDDESFORD, Vice-Chan. DANIEL SHILFOX, Mayor.

NUMBER XI.

The voluntary Information of Jane Sims, of Oxford, Widow, taken on Oath before us George Huddesford, D.D. Vice-Chancellor of the University of Oxford, and Daniel Shilfox, Esq; Mayor of the City of Oxford, the 17th Day of August, 1754.

THE Informant on her Oath faith, That the is a Laundress in Oxford, and washes Linnen for Mrs. Carnall, who lives near Carfax in Oxford aforesaid; and that her usual Custom is to fetch or fend for the foul Linnen from the faid Mrs. Carnall's every Sunday, and to return the fame clean every Friday; and that on the Sunday next before the last Affises for the County of Oxford this Informant received the faid Mrs. Carnall's foul Linnen from Mary Faulkner, her Maid-Servant, with a Bill of the faid Linnen as usual; on the Back of which Bill was written some Verses, as this Informant was told by Mary Karby her own Maid-Servant, after the had brought the faid Linnen to her own House, which said Mary Karby read the said Verses to this Informant, who cannot read herself; but this Informant; not understanding the same, did not at that Time give much heed to the faid Verses; but on the Friday following, when this Informant carried the faid Linnen, and the Bill belonging to it, back to the faid Mrs. Carnalls House, her said Servant Mary Faulkner received the

e

th

V

B

W

th

 F_{α}

on the faid Linnen, and after having compared it with the faid Bill, and left the faid Bill on a Bed which was in the Room, the the faid Mary Faulkner faid to her faid Miftress with some Expreffion of Joy, "Our Paper is come back a-"gain, I wondered what was become of it!" The faid Mrs. Carnall thereupon faid, where is it, to which this Informant replied, I have it, the this Informant having then thrown the faid Bill into her Balket; and Mrs. Carnall thereupon faid to this Informant, if you do not leave it you shall never wash any more for me; and this Informant not immediately delivering up the faid Paper, the faid Mary Faulkner snatched fome Linnen belonging to other Persons out of this Informant's Balket, in order to compel this Informant to deliver up the faid Bill, which this Informant accordingly did, upon the faid Mary Faulkner's delivering back the faid Linnen to this Informant; and this Informant hath fince heard from another Maid-Servant, who then lived with the faid Mrs, Carnall, and whose Name this Informant believes is Ann Smith, that the Verses wrote on the Back of the laid Linnen Bill, were a Copy or Part of the same Verses as were presented at the last Assises for the County of Oxford, as a treasonable Copy of Verses by the Grand-Jury there; and that the faid Mary Faulkner copied or transcribed the faid Verses on the Back of the faid Linnen Bill from the Original Control of the Control of t

The louis was a supplied that the carried

Original Copy of Verses so presented by the said Grand-Jury! I but out graves do named to be body of the Mark of fo AraM soft rainary, looked on the Back of and fill, and found a written Copy of Vers. SMISranAyhich this informant read over to gif twice the fame Ewening, and once after.

re

Sz

Sworn at Oxford the 17th Day of and no about August, 1754. before us amount and a George Huddesford, Vice-Chan.

DANIEL SHILFOX, Mayor. 100 but a but the but

And meet your Monarch at his Landing

Britains no longer gazing fland at of the Lines which were written on the

The voluntary Information of Mary Kirby, Spinster, Servant to Jane Sims of Oxford, Laundress, taken an Oath before us George Huddesford, D. D. Vice-Chancellor of the University of Oxford, and Daniel Shilfox, Esq. Mayor of the City of Oxford, the 17th
Day of August, 1754.

THE Informant on her Oath faith, That her Mistress Jane Sims washes Linnen for Mrs. Carnall, who lives near Carfax in Oxford; and that on the Sunday Evening next before the last Affises for the County of Oxford, as this Informant was comparing the Linnen Bill with the foul Linnen which came from the said Mrs. Carnall.

Carnall for her Miltress who cannot read, she this Informant observing the said Linnen Bill to be larger than ordinary, looked on the Back of the faid Bill, and found a written Copy of Verfes thereon, which this Informant read over to herself twice the same Evening, and once afterwards on the Friday following to her Mistress, who, upon hearing the fame, bid this Informant not mind their Nonsense, or to that Effect, and catched the faid Paper out of this Informant's Hand; and this Informant faith, that fome of the Lines which were written on the Back of the faid Linnen Bill were, to the best of this Informant's Knowledge, in the following Words:

"Britains no longer gazing stand " take Sword in Hand

"And meet your Monarch at his Landing which faid Lines do not, as this Informant believes, immediately follow one another in the faid Paper, but are in different Parts thereof, with other Lines intervening between them, not remembred by this Informant. . YEARAY KARM the City of Oxford, the ...

Sworn at Oxford the 17th Day of ıt 10

;

ne

1-h

s. 11, August, 1754. before us George Huddesford, Vice-Chan. Mrs. Cornall NoveM, XOTLING ASINA and that on the Sunday Evening next before last Assises for the County of Oxford, as the

this informant had read the faid Vers

The Information of Cornelius Norton, of Oxford, Gent. taken on Oath before us George Huddesford, D. D. Kice-Chancellor of the University of Oxford, and Daniel Shilfox, Elq. Mayor of the City of Oxford, the 22d Day of August, 1754.

that the thad thewn them to Mr. Anden HIS Informant on his Oath faith. That on the 23d of July last, he having then heard that a treasonable Copy of Verses was found and taken up by one Mrs. Carnall near her own Door at Carfax in the City of Oxford, this Informant went to see them, and the said Mrs. Carnall thereupon produced the same; and this Informant asking her where she had them, the told him, that the found or took them from the Top of some Rags lying by or near the Hampers of one Mrs. West a Cheese Woman, who fits under her Window, on Market Days, and that Mrs. West told her that the Rags were brought there by, or belonged to, one Maria, a Girl who used to look after Mrs. West's Hampers, and to buy Rags; and this Informant faith, That the faid Copy of Verses was wrote on White Paper, pasted upon old Brown Paper, pretty much worn, and feemed to this Informant to have been wrote some Years, and that fome Words of the same were mif-spelt, and feemed to be wrote by an indifferent writer, refembling a Woman's Hand-writing; and faith, that that when this Informant had read the faid Verfes, which contained many treasonable and feditious Expressions, exciting his Majesty's Subjects to rebel, this Informant ask'd Mrs. Carnall if the had thewn them to any Person, and in particular to any Magistrate, for that as the fame were treasonable, the ought to lay them before a Magistrate, in order to detect the Author; whereupon Mrs. Carnall told this Informant, that she had shewn them to Mr. Austin, one of the City Magistrates, but that he was afraid or unwilling to act, the People of the City despising and abusing him, and looking on him as their Enemy, or to that Effect; and that Mr. Austin advised her, as the Assises were so nigh, to apply to this Informant, and to be directed by him, or by fome Justice of the Peace, who fhou'd come to the Affiles, how to act; and this Informant faith. That to the best of his Remembrance and Belief, he kept the Verses only that Night and returned them to Mrs. Carnall the next Day; being the Commission Day of the Affiles at Oxford, Wednesday the 24th Day of July last; and that the next Day, being Thursday the 25th, the Verses were again brought or fent to this Informant from Mrs. Carnall, with Orders to draw a Presentment for the Grand Jury; but this Informant being ill, having taken Physic or been Blooded, could not himself attend the Grand Jury, and therefore this Informant's Son, who is an Attorney in London, and was then with this Informant, and has now left Oxford, drew the Form of a Presentment, and went

İ

'n

0

n,

S,

re

a,

1-nt

er,

1-10

nat nd

reth,

hat

went with Mrs. Carnall (as this Informant believes) to or before the Grand Jury; and this Informant faith, that Mrs. Carnall told him that Maria wou'd not inform her of whom she had the Rags, but the believed Maria's Aunt, one Mrs. Carter, might be able to get it out of her; whereupon this Informant defired Mrs. Carter might be fent to him, in Order to promote the Discovery; who accordingly came, but told this Informant she was apprehensive she cou'd do no good with Maria in that the Affair had been too much talk'd of, and made Public, and the Girl was grown shy and cautious, or to that Effect; and thereupon this Informant being told that the Girl also fold Cherries about the Streets, he order'd the faid Mrs. Carter to fend the faid Maria to him with fome, who brought him fome accordingly; and this Informant examining her about the Verses, and where, and of whom the had the Rags, the declared the could not tell, for the often bought several small Parcels in a Day, and the appeared very thy and unwilling to answer any Questions. And this Informant further faith, that the first Time he was apprized of the faid Verses was on the 22d or 23d of July last; and that he never was prifeiting of any Advertisement in any of the Public News Papers relative to the faid treasonable Copy of Verses, altho this Informant's Name was made use of upon such Occasion, which this Informant believes was owing to his known fi

n

A

11 fa

[39]

Zeal and Loyalty to the present King and Government. The board and c. NORTON.

Sworn at Oxford the 22d Day of August, 1754. before us doing and and GEORGE HUDDESFORD, Vice-Chan. DANIEL SHILFOX, Mayor, man ad inging and thereupon this Informant here's NUMBER XIV.

Discovery; who accordingly came, but not !! aformant the was apprehentive the could it good with Maria in that the Affair had have too much talled of, and made Pliblic, and Co Cirl was grown thy and cauriods, or to their Streets, he order d the faid Mrs. Carter tout The voluntary Information of Ann Smith, of Heddingdon in the County of Oxford, Spinfter, taken on Oath before us George Huddesford, D. D. Vice-Chancellor of the University of Oxford, and Daniel Shilfox, Esq; Mayor of the City of Oxford, the 19th of unwilling to answer any C. 1754. August never informant forther faith, that the first Time

THIS Informant on her Oath faith, That the went to live with one Mrs. Carnall in Oxford in the Capacity of a Servant Maid about five Weeks before the last Assises, and continued in the faid Service till the Monday after the Affises; and that sometime in the Affise Week the heard Many Faulkner, her fellow Servant, fay her Mistress had picked up a Treasonable Paper, and that she was to go before the Judge with it; and this Informant faith the never faw the faid Paper, nor knows any thing further about the same, but saith that she came to Oxford on the Saturday after the left her faid Service, and as the passed by the House of Mrs. Carnall, the (Mrs. Carnal) called to this Informant and asked her how she did, and defired her to walk in, which this Informant accordingly did; and then the faid Mrs. Carnall faid to this Informant, Did you fee me pick up the Piece of Paper (meaning the treasonable Piece of Paper, as this Informant apprehends) to which this Informant replied, No; upon which the said Mrs. Carnall said, You must certainly fee me pick it up; to which this Informant faid, No indeed, Madam, I did not; and this Informant further faid, that when the faid Mrs. Carnall asked the above Questions upon this Informant's giving her the above Answers, she Mrs. Carnall turned very pale, and seemed in great Confusion. And this Informant further faith, that during the whole Time the lived with Mrs. Carnall, her Miftrefs, Mrs. Carnall, never faid any thing to her about the faid Paper, neither doth this Informant know any thing of the faid Paper, fave as above fet forth.

ANN SMITH

tł

n

n

W

th

W

fai

is

th

th an fee

beg

ing

In

to

Sworn at Oxford the 19th Day of August, 1754. before us
GEORGE HUDDESFORD, Vice-Chan.
DANTEL SHILFOX, Mayor,

er, and that the was to go be

NUMBER XV.

To 10 the Gid Mr. Co.

The voluntary Information of John Austin, of the City of Oxford, Mercer, taken on Oath before us George Huddesford, D.D. and Vice-Chancellar of the University of Oxford, and Daniel Shilfox, Esq. Mayor of the City of Oxford, the 22d Day of August, 1754.

THE Informant on his Oath faith, That on I the Wednesday in the last Sessions Week, fometime in the Forenoon of the same Day, as the Informant was going Home to his own House, he was called into Mr. Carter's Shop near Carfax in Oxford, but the Informant does not know by whom; that he the Informant went into the faid Shop, and there was there Mr. Carter, Mrs. Carter, and Mrs. Carnall, and the Informant knows not whether any Body else was in the faid Shop at that Time; that the faid Mr. Carter faid to the Informant, See here is a fine Thing, and put a Paper of Verses into this Informant's Hand, which faid Paper was a thickish Kind of Paper and seemed to be old, and not to be very white, and the Writing scemed to this Informant not to be very fresh; the Informant looked on the faid Paper, and began reading it, but the Informant's Eyes being bad, he could not read it through, but the Informant faith that the Hand writing feemed to the Informant to be fictitious; and this Informant formant returned the same to the said Mr. Carter, who read the faid Verses to this Informant; that the Informant looked upon the faid Verses to be very bad against his Majesty, and the said Mr. Carter told the Informant that Mrs. Carnall had picked them up that Morning among some Rags by her Door; whereupon Mrs. Carnall asked this Informant, what was proper to be done with it; upon which this Informant advifed her either to confult Mr. Norton the Attorney, or bring the Paper to him this Informant, and he would confider what was proper to be done; to which Mr. Carter replyed, he should have it presently; and this Informant went over to his own House, and soon after this Informant feeing Mr. Carter at his Door, which is nearly opposite to this Informant's House, he beckoned him over, and asked him for the said Verses, who told this Informant he had shewed them to one Captain Loyde who had taken them away with him, which Person so called Captain Loyde this Informant knows to be an Agent of Lord Parker and Sir Edward Turner, but is ignorant of the Place of his Abode, or of any other Particulars concerning him, but that foon after in the same Day this Informant gave the faid Captain Loyde Cash for Bills to a confiderable Amount, and then took an Opportunity to ask him for the said Paper, to which Captain Loyde answered he had it not about him, or made some evasive Answer, which this Informant cannot recollect; and this Informant faith he losmio!

28 d

11 ne

111 be i-

rit, be ld

er -10

is he-id

ed

em

p-ent is ny noo the

erto ain

or foraith he

Book

he never faw the faid Verses afterwards, nor knows any further Particulars concerning them, but hath heard that the fame were prefented by the Grand-Jury at the last Affises for the County of Oxford; and fince the faid Prefentment. this Informant transcribed the faid Verses from a Copy which one Mr. Hanwell, Under-Treafurer of Christ-Church Oxford, shewed to this Informant, and which Mr. Hamwell faid he had from the Grand-Jury, with whom he had lately been; which Copy so taken by him this Informant he this Informant destroyed on Monday last; and this Informant faith he cannot depose any further concerning the Matters abovementioned.

JOHN AUSTIN.

Central State of Carlotte and Carlotte Sworn at Oxford the 22d Day of August, 1754. before us GEORGE HUDDESFORD, Vice-Chan. DANIEL SHILFOX, Mayor. editions this informant knows to be a constant war.

Lord For and St. France Trong to the constant of the Constant of the Constant in the Lord Lay this informant after in the Lord Constant of the Constant o made fome evalive Aniwer, which that many common records and this institute Pocket

Lud Kapten Leyn Cah for Bills to a che able Amount, and then took an Opportunities also him for the fail Paper, to which will Loyge, antwered he had it not about the comments of the fail in the fail

[44]

NUMBER XVI.

had febred to another Part of Mic

The voluntary Information of Richard Hanwell, of Oxford, Gentleman, taken before us George Huddesford, D. D. Vice-Chancellor of the University of Oxford, and Daniel Shilfox, Biq; Mayor of the City of Oxford, this 22d Day of August, 1754.

HIS Informant upon his Oath faith, That on the last Day of the last Affises for the County of Oxford, as he believes, he was about Dinner Time with the Gentlemen of the Grand Jury at the Bear Inn, after a Presentment had by them been made of certain treasonable Verfes found in the Market Place of the City of Oxford; and that in another Room of the faid Inn, into which the Company retired at pleafure, there lay upon the Table a Paper containing Verses of a very treasonable, scandalous and feditious Nature, which this Informant understood to be a Copy of the faid Verses so presented, it being expressed at the Bottom of the same that it was fuch Copy fo prefented by the Grand Jury. And this Informant faith, That he then and there transcribed the same, and that another Person was writing at the same Time, but whether it was another Copy or not, this Informant cannot determine. And this Informant faith, that sometime afterwards, he being in the Shop of Mr. Austin the Mercer, took out his Pocket Book

Book in which among other Papers the said Copy of Verses then was, and Mr. Austin took up the same and retired to another Part of the Shop to write out a Bill for this Informant, to the best of his Knowledge, but whether he took a Copy of the said Verses or not this Informant cannot positively determine, but is rather inclined to think he did, as he was at that time writing. And this Informant saith, that the said Copy so taken by him of the said Verses is now either lost or missaid; and this Informant will not undertake to produce the same, because he knows not what is become of it.

be

X,

at

he ut

nd ad

er-

of ea-

in-er-

nt-

me

and nen her

he-

ant th,

hop ket ook RICHARD HANWELL.

Sworn at Oxford the 22d Day of August, 1754. before us
GEORGE HUDDESEORD, Vice-Chan.
DANIEL SHILFOX, Mayor.

or Ing after a Prefence that it was it. a. I cover o protected by the sher it was another Copy or not, this Inform cannot determine. And this Informance

the tonicione afterwards, he being it ing Vertes of a very treatonable, feandal feditions Nature, which this Informatic theed to be at logy of the faid Vertes to ed, it being expressed at the Bottom of the

and there translathed the fame, and that as Region was writing at the fame Time, but book in which among other Papers the faid Copy of Veries then was and Mr. Zhellis took up the fame and retired to another Part of the shoot to write out a had for this Informant, to the bets of his knowledge, but whether he took a Copy of the faid Veries or not this Informant and of think he did, as he was at that time writed to think he did, as he was at that time writed to this Informant faith, that time writed to taken by him of the faid Veries is now eather iod or midaid; and this Informant will not undertake to produce the face face of it.

RICHARD HANWELL.

Storm of Oxford the 2nd Day of Anguel, 1754. Logar as Chon. Chone Huppersonn, Vice-Chan. Davies, Suite et, Mayor.

FINIS

ACTOR CHARLESTON

The state of the second of the